Genoua, July 16. N. S.

THE Spaniſh Galleys that arrived here the laſt week, are gone to Porto Longone; and from thence, will proceed according to their Orders. There are ſeveral French Privateers in theſe Seas; one of which, commanded by the Sieur Bremont, was lately taken by two Dutch Capers. By a Veſſel come from the Coaſt of Barbary we are informed, that the Dey of Argiers was marching with his Army againſt the Emperor of Morocco.

Venice, July 20. 'Tis above a Fortnight ſince we received any Letters from the Levant: The laſt ſaid, the Venetian Fleet was ſailed from Napoli di Romania, taking its Courſe towards the Archipelago; and we expect our next will tell us, that they have made ſome Attempt upon the Enemy: In the mean time, there ſeems to be no Appearance of Action in the Morea; the Venetians having poſted a good Body of their Troops near the Iſthmus of Corinth, to ſecure that Paſs; and the Turks not being in a Condition to give us any diſturbance on that ſide, ſeeing, by our laſt Letters, they had not been able to get above 8 or 9000 Men together near Thebes, the place appointed for the Rendezvous of their Army in thoſe Parts. Signior Cuſani, the Pope's Nuntio, arrived here this day; and an Ambaſſador is daily expected from the Emperor, to ſupply the place of the Count de la Torre, who died here in December laſt. 'Tis ſaid, that the Emperor will not agree to the Neutrality, which, by the late Treaty between the Duke of Savoy and the French, is propoſed for all Italy; and that His Imperial Majeſty intends to ſend a ſtrong Re-inforcement to his Troops, in order to carry on the War on this ſide.

Milan, July 20. The Marquis de Leganez, our Governor, has, ſince his Return from Piedmont, appointed the principal Engineers in the Service of this State to view our Frontier-places, and report what Fortifications are neceſſary to be made for their Security; which does not look as if he thought the Neutrality offered for Italy, would be accepted: And indeed, 'tis the general Opinion here, that inſtead of that, yet greater Efforts will be made by the Emperor and the King of Spain, to proſecute the War againſt the French from theſe Parts; and that the Duke of Savoy's Country being by this Means expoſed to the Armies on both ſides, both he and the French will be deprived of the Advantage they propoſe by the Treaty they have now made: In the mean time, the Spaniſh Troops, with the Imperialiſts, and thoſe of the other Allies, which together make a Body of near 30000 Men, remain in their Camp near Moncalier, expecting Orders from the Princes, their Maſters.

From the Imperial Camp near Chonad, in Hungary, July 17. We have within theſe few days received Advices by ſeveral ways, of the Grand Signior's March towards the Danube, and that Bridges are laid over that River by his Order; which makes us think he intends to paſs it, and to march towards Tranſilvania, as he did the laſt year: Whereupon, a Council of War having been held by the Elector of Saxony, it is thought moſt adviſable, that the Army ſhall continue in this Camp, to obſerve the Enemy's Motions; taking care at the ſame time to ſecure Titul, and the other Places which may be attacked by Detachments ſent from Belgrade. The Count de Heiterſheim, who was charged with this Commiſſion, and left the Army the 13th, having been at Titul, and given ſuch Orders as he thought neceſſary, returned hither this day. The Additional Troops of Saxony, being about 4000 Men, have joined the Army; The Auxiliary Forces of Denmark and Brandenburgh, who may make about 3000 more, are on their March this way; and the Troops from Tranſilvania, under the Command of Prince Thomas of Vaudemont, are ſo near us, that they may join us in few days. The young Duke of Lorraine is coming to the Army, and expected towards the end of this week, to make the Campagne with us. This afternoon were brought in ſeveral Priſoners, ſome of which have been lately at Temeſwar, and report, that they heard while they were there, that the Grand Signior was come to Niſſa; and that 'twas believed he would paſs the Danube with his Army, between Widin and Semendria.

Vienna, July 21. By the laſt Letters from Hungary, the Imperial Army continued near Chonad, on the River Maroſh; and would remain there till they ſaw which way the Grand Signior intended to move with his Army, whether towards Tranſilvania, or Peter-Waradin; according to whoſe Motions, the Imperial Generals would regulate theirs: And in the mean time, the Troops of Tranſilvania were ordered to advance, and be in a readineſs to join the main Army, if it was found neceſſary. The Reports concerning the Strength of the Enemy's Army are very various, and uncertain; but all the Advices agree, that the number of the Troops from Aſia falls much ſhort of what the Grand Signior expected from thence; which the Baſſa's that command them excuſe, on Account of the Diſturbances there are in thoſe Parts, by the Revolt of the Arabs; which obliges the keeping part of the Forces at home, that might otherwiſe be employed in Hungary. A great many Boats are laden here with Proviſions and Ammunition, to be laid up in the Magazins of Buda, for the Uſe of the Army, as there may be Occaſion. They write by the laſt Letters from Peter-Waradin, that the Body of Turks who, it was thought, intended to attack the Fortreſs of Titul, were returned to Belgrade; but gave out, that they would quickly return with a greater Force, to put their Deſign in execution; which the Imperialiſts are not apprehenſive of, being in a good poſture to receive them
